

Movie Detail Feature Specification

1. What the Feature Is

The detail page shows everything CineLog knows about a specific movie or TV show. It is reachable by clicking any title anywhere in the app, including the feed, the watchlist, search results, and the dashboard activity view.

2. What Is Shown

The detail page presents the following information about the selected title:

- Title, release year, and original language.
- Genres, runtime, and audience rating.
- A written overview of the plot.
- The director or creator.
- The top cast members with their character names and photos.
- The official trailer, embedded and playable directly on the page.
- A tagline if one is available.

3. Watchlist and Log Actions

Signed-in users can take two actions directly from the detail page:

- Add to Watchlist: saves the title to the user's watchlist with a Want to Watch status.
- Mark as Watched: logs the title as watched and updates its watchlist status to Watched.

If the title is already in the watchlist, the button updates to show this.

Once a title has been marked as watched, the watched button becomes inactive to prevent duplicate logs from the same page.

Users who are not signed in are shown a prompt to log in when they try to use either action.

4. User Stories

- Read a full summary and details about a movie or show before watching it.
- Watch the official trailer without leaving the app.
- See who directed and starred in a title.
- Save a title to the watchlist from its detail page.
- Log a watch directly from the detail page.
- Navigate back to wherever you came from.

5. Business Rules

- The same page is used for both movies and TV shows.
- If the title cannot be found or the data source is unavailable, an error message is shown.

- Unauthenticated users can view all details but cannot save or log titles.
- Adding a title that is already in the watchlist shows its current status instead of adding it again.
